1-2 (canceled)

3: (new) A data storage medium, comprising:

data stored in the form of a data structure, the data structure including a header;

the header including a bit specifying control of reading part of the data structure.

4: (new) The data storage medium of claim 3, further comprising:

the header including a bit specifying control of overwriting the data structure.

5: (new) A data storage medium, comprising:

data stored in the form of a data structure, the data structure including a header;

the header including a bit specifying control of reformatting the data storage medium.

6. (new) A method, comprising:

writing to a data storage medium the data structure of claim 5.

−2−